Overview & Current Events

ABM Industries is a leading provider of facility solutions, which includes janitorial, electrical & lighting, energy solutions, facilities engineering, HVAC & mechanical, landscape & turf, and parking. The company employs more than 130,000 people in more than 350 offices throughout the United States and various international locations, primarily in Canada. ABM Industries has increased its dividend for 51 consecutive years, which makes the company a Dividend King. ABM Industries is headquartered in New York, NY, and is currently trading with a market capitalization of $2.7 billion.

ABM Industries reported its second quarter earnings results (fiscal 2019) on June 5. The company announced that its revenues totaled $1.59 billion during the quarter, which was slightly below analyst estimates, and which represents a growth rate of 0.9% versus the prior year's Q2 revenues. Unlike in previous quarters, acquisitions did not have a meaningful positive impact on ABM Industries' revenue growth rate during the second quarter. The company's organic revenue growth rate, which backs out currency movements, was 1.7% during the second quarter. Results were hurt by a strong US Dollar that weakened its overseas revenues when translated to USD.

ABM Industries was able to generate earnings-per-share of $0.47 during the second quarter, which easily beat the analyst consensus estimate of $0.41, but which did not represent any improvement over the earnings-per-share that were generated during the second quarter of the previous fiscal year. Adjusted EBITDA was up slightly versus the previous year's quarter, growing to $85 million.

ABM Industries guides for EBITDA margins of ~5.2% during fiscal 2019. The company also has raised its guidance for this year's earnings-per-share to a range of $1.95 to $2.05, we have upped our estimates to reflect this.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
EPS	$1.33	$1.34	$1.39	$1.39	$1.52	$1.53	$1.62	$1.74	$1.75	$1.89	$2.00	$2.68
DPS	$0.52	$0.54	$0.56	$0.58	$0.60	$0.62	$0.64	$0.66	$0.68	$0.70	$0.72	$0.82
Shares	51.7	52.6	53.3	54.4	54.4	55.8	56.1	55.6	65.5	66.0	66.5	68.0

ABM Industries' earnings-per-share have compounded at 5.3% over the last decade, which is solid, but not spectacular. ABM Industries' profits have grown very consistently, as profits have risen during every year. This is a remarkable feat that underlines how non-cyclical ABM Industries' business model is. The last year where its profits declined on a year-over-year basis was in 2003. ABM Industries was able to grow its earnings-per-share during the financial crisis. Because of this outstanding recession performance track record, we believe ABM Industries should be able to do well during future economic downturns as well.

The GCA Services acquisition has allowed the company to expand its foothold both within the United States and internationally. The scale advantages of the takeover, coupled with synergies that ABM Industries should be able to capture over the coming years, is why we believe that ABM Industries' long-term earnings-per-share growth could be a bit higher than the growth rate that ABM Industries generated over the last decade. Our estimate is for long-term earnings-per-share growth of 6% annually.

More than 50 years of annual dividend increases have made ABM Industries a member of the Dividend Kings.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	Now	2024
Avg. P/E	13.3	15.5	16.7	15.0	15.3	17.7	18.8	19.2	24.0	16.4	20.0	17.5
Avg. Yld.	2.9%	2.6%	2.4%	2.8%	2.6%	2.3%	2.1%	2.0%	1.5%	2.3%	1.8%	1.8%

ABM Industries trades at exactly 20 times this year's forecasted earnings right now. This is, apart from its valuation during 2017, the highest multiple ABM Industries' stock has traded at over the last decade. Multiple compression will likely be a headwind for ABM Industries' total returns going forward. Due to the relatively high valuation, ABM Industries' dividend yield has also fallen to a below-average level.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
Payout	39.1%	40.3%	40.3%	41.7%	39.5%	40.5%	39.5%	37.9%	38.9%	37.0%	36.0%	30.6%

ABM Industries has increased its dividend consistently for decades, but not at a high growth rate. This has made its dividend payout ratio decline slightly throughout the last decade, as earnings growth outpaced ABM Industries' dividend growth. Due to the low dividend payout ratio and its very stable, recession-resilient business model, ABM Industries' dividend looks very safe. ABM Industries would likely not be harmed during a recession in a meaningful way, which is why we believe that ABM Industries is a low-risk investment from that perspective.

ABM Industries is one of the biggest companies in its industry, and its history of making acquisitions has enhanced its scale advantages further. It is likely that ABM Industries will continue to make acquisitions to increase its size further whenever the company finds a valuable target that can be acquired at a fair price.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

ABM Industries is active in a somewhat boring industry, but this does not mean that the stock is a bad investment. ABM Industries has been a great low-risk dividend growth investment in the past. We believe that the company will continue to grow its profits over the coming years, and the company should be able to weather future recessions well. Since shares trade above fair value, we rate ABM Industries a hold for now.
