Overview & Current Events

Grupo Aval, ticker AVAL, is a Colombian holding company engaged in various financial activities, including banking, telecommunications, and real estate in Colombia and Central America. The Company's majority owner is Luis Carlos Sarmiento, who owns about 80% of the Company's shares. Mr. Luis continues to run the Company with help from his son, Luis Carlos Sarmiento Gutierrez, whom Mr. Luis is grooming to control the family conglomerate eventually. The Company was founded in 1998 when its name was changed from Administraciones Bancarias. Grupo Aval owns sufficient amounts of voting stock in some well-known companies in Banco de Bogota, Banco Popular, and BAC Credomatic, with operations in Costa Rica, Panamá, Nicaragua, Guatemala, and El Salvador, Honduras, and the U.S. State of Florida. The Company has been paying monthly dividends since 2014, but the dividend amount varies because it is paid out in Colombian Peso. Grupo Aval has a market cap of $5.96 billion and made $5.58 billion in revenue in 2020. Note that Grupo Aval reports earnings in Colombian Peso, which we converted into USD.

On May 20th, 2021, Group Aval reported first-quarter Full Year (FY)2021 results. Grupo Aval had a gross loan of $0.051 million for the quarter, representing a 4.4% increase compared to the first quarter of 2020. The Company saw a 13% increase in total interest income per share from $0.008 to now $0.0091 per share. The improvement in the economy boosted Grupo Aval's performance, resulting in net income for the quarter of $0.20 billion, an ROAA of 1.8%, and an ROAE of 15.4%. Net income increased 13% versus the first quarter of 2020 and almost 25% versus the fourth quarter of 2020.

The Company made $0.57 per share in earnings for FY2020, which is lower by (20.8)% vs. FY2019. We estimate that Grupo will earn $0.61 per share for the fiscal year 2021. This will be an increase of 7% compared to FY2020.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2026
EPS	---	---	---	$0.71	$0.64	$0.65	$0.61	$0.79	$0.72	$0.57	$0.61	$0.82

Shares¹	---	---	---	770.0	765.0	763.0	761.0	758.0	758.0	758.0	758.0	758.0

As South America and Central America region begin to lift COVID-19 restrictions, we expect Grupo Aval to grow at a 6% earnings growth for the next five years. We estimate that 2026 full-year earnings could be $0.82 a share. This is a much better rate than what the Company has been averaging over the past five years. The five-year compound annual growth rate (CAGR) for the Company is (1.3)%.

The Company's dividend is very inconsistent because it is converted to USD. Grupo Aval continued to pay its dividend during the 2020 COVID-19 pandemic, which is impressive considering numerous banks either cut or suspended their dividend.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	Now	2026
Avg. P/E	---	---	---	14.6	10.2	12.2	14	7.5	12.2	12.1	8.6	10.0
Avg. Yld.	---	---	---	1.6%	6.5%	4.9%	4.7%	5.7%	4.0%	4.7%	5.9%	3.6%

Shares have traded with an average P/E ratio of 11.6x earnings in the last five years. However, we think a PE of 10x is fair. At the current price, Grupo Alva currently has a P/E of 8.3. Thus, the Company looks undervalued based on our calculation. The dividend yield has been as high as 6.5% in 2015 and as low as 1.6% in 2014. Considering that the current S&P dividend yield is 1.35%, Grupo Aval's 5.9% yield appears comparative attractive.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	---	---	---	24%	67%	60%	66%	43%	49%	56%	41%	36%

Grupo Aval does not have an economic moat. Bank moats are achieved through cost advantages like funding, operational, credit, and regulatory. Also, bank moats are created in the banking system in which a company operates. The Colombian banking system is flawed because of its unfriendly regulatory prospect, worsening macroeconomic prospects, and bleak political conditions. Aval does have a competitive advantage as it is the largest bank in Colombia. We do not have data during the Great Recession, but during the COVID-19 pandemic, the Company has fair pretty well and continued to pay out its monthly dividends. Grupo Aval currently does not have an S&P Credit Rating. The debt-to-equity ratio (D/E) is 3.1, which is relatively high. The Company does have total assets of $86.3 billion compared to $15.9 billion in total liabilities, giving an assets-to-liabilities ratio of 1.1. Overall, Grupo Aval has a satisfactory balance sheet.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Grupo Aval appears able to withstand the current economic headwinds. However, earnings have been very volatile. We anticipate a total return over the next five years of 8.6% per year, with most of this coming from earnings growth and the dividend yield. We rate Grupo Aval as a Buy at the current price. The Company is expected to earn 12.8% for the next five years. With the high dividend yield and expected total return, AVAL looks attractive to income investors.
