Overview & Current Events

Spirit Realty Capital is a premier net-lease REIT, mainly investing in single-tenant retail locations. The company's portfolio is well diversified, comprised of more than 2,118 properties in 48 states, leased to 346 tenants who operate in 34 different industries. Leveraging its diversified real estate assets, Spirit Realty aims to provide investors with long term stable returns. Its convenience and drug stores, home improvement stores, and various other essential properties account for around half of the trust's portfolio and have provided resilient cash flows during the pandemic. Spirit Realty is based in Dallas, Texas, and generates around $500 million in annual rental revenues.

On August 9th, 2022, Spirit Realty increased its dividend by 3.9% to a quarterly rate of $0.663.

On November 8th, 2022, Spirit Realty reported its Q3 results for the period ending September 30th, 2022. For the quarter, total revenues and FFO/share were $180.9 million and $0.93, an increase of 19.9% and 6.9%, respectively. Higher revenues were driven by accretive acquisitions and record occupancy levels, currently standing at a remarkable 99.8%. Occupancy remained unchanged quart-over-quarter. The disproportional increase in FFO/share against revenues was due to a 15.5% increase in total expenses and a 13.8% increase in outstanding shares year-over-year. AFFO/share, which excludes certain one-off items and non-cash compensation expenses, grew by four cents to $0.90.

The company purchased an additional 51 properties during Q3, with an average cash yield of 6.86%. The new properties increased Spirit's portfolio diversification. Management slightly raised its prior FY2022 FFO/share guidance, expecting AFFO/share between $3.55 and $3.57 (up from $3.52 to $3.58), the midpoint of which we have utilized in our calculations (core FFO should land quite close to this figure as well).

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Shares²	16	51	77	87	94	94	87	91	104	118	136	150

Spirit Realty's FFOs have failed to grow over the past few years, mainly caused by the challenges faced by retail REITs due to the rise of e-commerce, several acquisitions/dispositions, and, most recently, the ongoing pandemic. With the company delivering robust operating metrics during Q3 despite a rather challenging real estate space, we believe that its performance is poised to shine as the retail economy gradually recovers.

We forecast an FFO/Share of 4% in the medium term, driven by rental collections continuing to improve, rental escalations, and attractive yields in its newly acquired properties. Regarding its DPS, it has fluctuated over the years, in line with Spirit's FFOs. Management has mentioned that it intends to maintain a payout ratio of around 75% to FFO/share. Following improving results, we retain our DPS growth estimates to 2% since FFO/share growth should sustain marginal dividend increases while retaining such a ratio.

¹ FFO/Share in 2010 and 2011 are prior to SRC's listing in 2012, hence the lack of P/FFOs as well.

² Share count is in millions.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
P/FFO	12.3	22.5	16.3	10.3	14	9.7	9.4	12.9	12.8	14.4	11.3	12.5
Avg. Yld.	---	1.2%	4.8%	6.0%	5.4%	8.1%	8.3%	5.4%	6.9%	5.3%	6.6%	5.4%

Due in part to the company's volatile FFO results, the stock's valuation has hovered in the high-single to low double-digits, lower than the REIT sector's average. As a result, despite the current DPS being lower than its past rates, shares are currently yielding a sizeable 6.6%, significantly higher than the sector's average of ~4.6%. The market has effectively priced the lack of meaningful growth, hence the high yield. We expect Spirit's P/FFO to expand modestly toward 12.5X FFO, where we believe the stock would be more fairly valued.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	---	65%	98%	75%	75%	82%	80%	75%	92%	77%	74%	68%

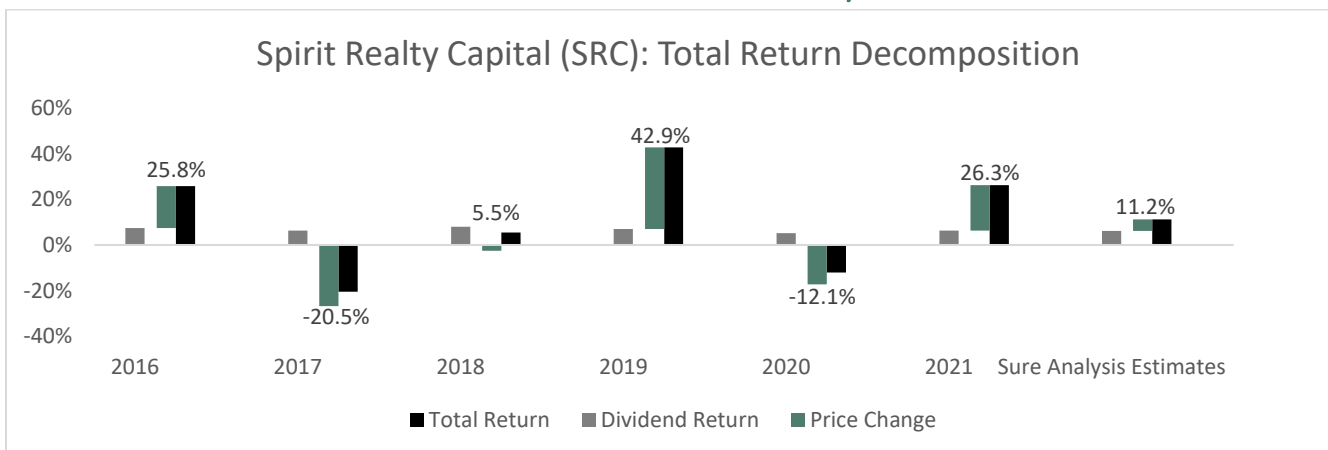

Spirit Realty's much-diversified portfolio is a double-edged sword. On the one hand, investors gain exposure in every single retail sub-sector, spread across hundreds of tenants in almost every state, enjoying a mixed stream of cash flows. On the other hand, having to manage thousands of smaller properties in what is currently the riskiest real estate sector has resulted in a lack of stability and growth in Spirit's FFOs. We believe the current dividend is safe for now, as payouts are covered adequately, while rental escalations should grow that margin further over time unless marginal DPS increases occur.

Interest coverage currently stands at 3.0 times its operating cash flows, which is lower than the industry's median of 3.61, but still at decent levels. However, given the company's volatile performance and retail exposure, it's likely that creditors will demand higher rates upon refinancing its loans. In fact, the company's cost of interest came in at 3.36% in Q3 compared to 2.82% in Q2. Nevertheless, we believe Spirit realty's qualities outweigh its dangers, overall.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Overall, Spirit Realty's Q3 results demonstrated another quarter of resilient performance. The occupancy rate was phenomenal, rental collections were robust, and management's FY2022 guidance remains quite promising. Simultaneously, shares appear slightly undervalued. Amid an attractive valuation, solid growth prospects, and its current above-average yield, we forecast annualized returns of around 11.2% through 2027. The stock earns a buy rating.
