Overview & Current Events

Lincoln National Corporation offers life insurance, annuities, retirement plan services and group protection. The corporation was founded in 1905 as The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company. Permission from Abraham Lincoln's son to use the former president's name was granted. In 1912, the company entered the reinsurance business. In 1969, Lincoln National Corp began trading on the New York Stock Exchange and the Midwest Stock Exchange. Today it trades under the ticker LNC. The corporation has grown into a market capitalization of $5.0 billion.

In November 2023, Lincoln National ceded $28 billion of in-force ULSG, MoneyGuard and fixed annuity statutory reserves to Fortitude Re. This reduced Lincoln's balance sheet risk, improved its risk-based capital ratio, and is expected to increase annual free cash flow by more than $100 million. The deal closed in Q4 2023.

On May 6, 2024, Lincoln completed the sale of its wealth management business to Osaic, Inc. Lincoln received $725 million cash. It used the cash to increase The Lincoln National Life Insurance Company's Risk-Based Capital (RBC) ratio, and deleverage.

Lincoln National reported second quarter 2024 results on August 1st, 2024, for the period ending June 30th, 2024. The company generated net income of $5.11 per share in the quarter, which compared favorably to $2.94 in the second quarter of 2023. Adjusted income from operations equaled $1.84 per share compared to $2.02 in the same prior year period. Additionally, annuities average account balances rose by 6.8% to $158 billion and group protection insurance premiums grew 2.8% to $1.3 billion.

Book value per share (including adjusted income from operations (AOI)) rose 43% compared to the prior year to $40.78. Book value per share (excluding AOI) increased 13% to $66.37.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029

The COVID-19 pandemic crushed Lincoln National's 2020 results, but they recuperated strongly in 2021 before plummeting in 2022. For 2023, results normalized, and the company got back on track, but results were still well below its highs. As a result, LNC has an adjusted operating income per share (AOIPS) CAGR of -1.6% and -9.2% in the last nine and five years, respectively. We expect 11% growth of AOIPS in 2024, and 8.0% annual growth into 2029.

The dividend has grown since it was slashed in 2008 and 2009 to $0.04 annually. The corporation's 2020 dividend of $1.60 was the first year the dividend returned to this level since 2007. The share count has been reduced meaningfully over the last decade. Continued strong share repurchase would be a tailwind to per share earnings.

Following Lincoln’s Fortitude Reinsurance deal, and the announcement of its Osaic deal, the company has laid out the long term outlook for its target operating income earnings mix. It is targeting for Annuities to account for 45% to 55% of its earnings mix, group to account for 25% to 35%, retirement to be 5% to 15%, and life to make up the remaining 5% to 10%. This means Lincoln will be reducing its exposure to annuities, increasing its exposure to group and life, while retirement will remain in its current range.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Avg. P/AOIPS	8.6	10.1	7.1	9.2	8.0	9.0	9.1	8.0	-	4.9	5.1	6.0
Avg. Yld.	1.2%	1.5%	2.2%	1.7%	1.9%	2.4%	4.0%	2.5%	3.4%	7.2%	6.0%	4.5%

Lincoln National trade at just 5.1 times this year’s adjusted net income expectations of $5.78 per share. The average price-to-adjusted operating income per share for Lincoln has been 8.2X and 7.8X for the trailing nine and five years. We believe shares are still undervalued here and that it could be trading at a 6.0 P/AOIPS ratio in 2029, which implies the potential for a valuation tailwind.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	11%	15%	15%	15%	16%	22%	36%	20%	-	34%	31%	27%

Lincoln’s earnings fell significantly during the great financial crisis, falling about 40% from peak to trough. As a result, the dividend was cut to near nothing. It took about five years for earnings to return to their prior highs, and as mentioned, the dividend only now eclipsed its previous record. Additionally, LNC was hit hard by the COVID-19 pandemic due to mortality impacts. Today the dividend appears to be in safe territory with an expected payout ratio of 30% for 2024, but LNC is not recession resistant and could face headwinds from a slowing economy. The company lists its automated underwriting within a defined criterion, and its LincXpress product, a simplified issue process, as marketplace competitive advantages.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The share price of LNC stock has increased by 10% year-to-date. The stock could still offer annualized total returns of 15.6% in the intermediate term, and the stock is trading at 86% of our estimate of fair value. We rate shares as a buy for investors who can stomach the volatility in this insurance business. Lincoln National appears to be a high-risk, high-reward stock.
