Overview & Current Events

NACCO Industries is a holding company for The North American Coal Corporation, which incorporated in 1913. The company supplies coal from surface mines to power generation companies. NACCO Industries is the largest lignite coal producer in the U.S. and ranks among the top ten of all coal producers. NACCO Industries operates in the states of North Dakota, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana and on the Navajo Nation in New Mexico. The company produces annual revenues of ~$250 million. The company has been very active in purchasing and spinning off a wide variety of businesses in its history. In 1988 and 1990, NACCO Industries made several purchases that expanded the business to include housewares. In 2012, NACCO Industries spun off its Materials Handling Group (a combination of Yale Materials Handling Corporation and the Hyster Company). The company spun off its housewares-related business on September 29th, 2017.

On May 16th, 2024, NACCO Industries raised its quarterly dividend 4.6% to $0.2275.

On November 1st, 2024, NACCO Industries reported third quarter results for the period ending September 30th, 2024. For the quarter, revenue decreased 4.5% to $46.5 million while earnings-per-share of $2.14 compared favorably to -$0.51 in the prior year.

Coal revenue was lower by 5.1% to $17.7 million while total tons delivered improved 1.3%. Unconsolidated coal deliveries grew 4.5% to 5.8 million tons while consolidated coal deliveries declined 24.5% to 474K tons. Deliveries from the North American Mining segment were down by 22% to 12 million tons while revenue grew 49% to $32.3 million. Mineral Management revenue grew 54% to $8.8 million due to significantly higher volumes.

The company expects to generate significant positive net income in 2024 following a steep decline in earnings-per-share in 2023. We have assumed earnings-per-share of $5.00 for this year, up from $3.00 previously.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Because NACCO Industries spun off its Materials Handling Group in 2012, it is not appropriate to compare today's company to the pre-spinoff equivalent. NACCO saw its earnings per share decline 6.5% per year through 2017. NACCO has shown mostly negative growth since 2012 and volatile earnings-per-share since. Given the volatility of the company, we continue to expect flat earnings growth through 2029. Adjusting for its spin-off history, NACCO Industries has raised its dividend for 39 consecutive years. This is an impressive growth streak given the extreme cyclicality in the company's earnings history. We expect a dividend growth rate of 5% going forward.

NACCO Industries does have some opportunity for growth. For example, the company entered into an agreement in Q2 2020 to become the exclusive contract miner for the Thacker Pass lithium project in northern Nevada. Construction commenced on March 2nd, 2023 with the production of lithium expected to begin in 2027, compared to a prior forecast of 2026.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	13.8	16.8	14.5	18.2	8.7	8.3	12.5	5.4	3.6	---	6.2	9.0
Avg. Yld.	1.9%	2.0%	1.7%	1.3%	1.8%	1.6%	2.9%	2.2%	2.3%	2.4%	2.9%	2.6%

Shares of NACCO Industries have increased $3, or 10.7%, since our August 3rd, 2024 report. Focusing on just the 2018 to 2022 period, NACCO Industries shares have traded with an average price to earnings multiple of 7.7. This is above the stock's current multiple of 6.2x our expected earnings estimate. Investors are just not willing to pay for a company that has an issue growing earnings consistently. NACCO Industries needs to prove it can reliably grow earnings-per-share before it receives a higher multiple. We maintain our 2029 P/E target of 9.0. Reaching our target valuation could add 7.7% to annual returns over the next five years.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

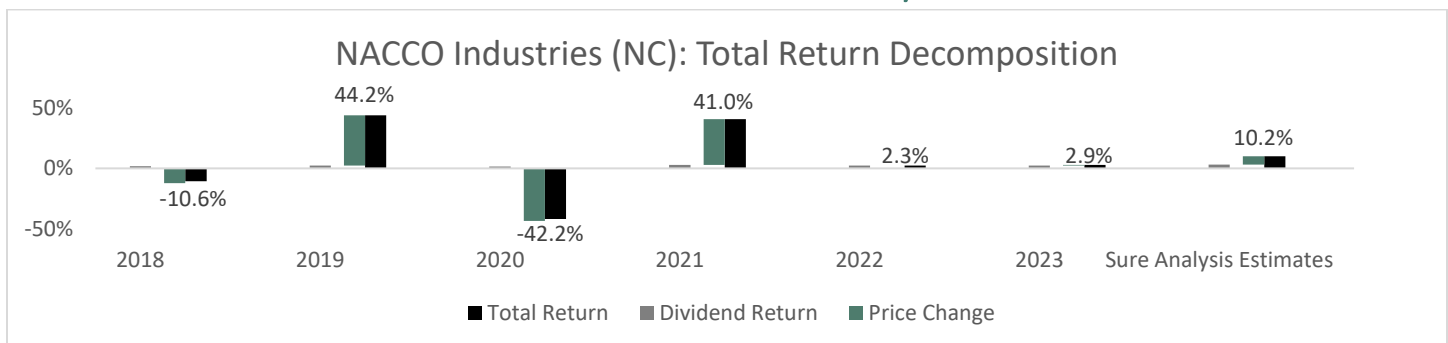

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	26%	34%	25%	24%	13%	13%	37%	12%	8%	---	18%	23%

The previous version of NACCO Industries actually saw earnings improve during the last recession, but this is not the same company. NACCO Industries now sees a substantial portion of revenues from coal. As demand for coal fluctuates, so will the company's ability to produce revenue. The company has also kept its payout ratio low in recent years, which is a prudent decision by management as earnings-per-share continues to drop. NACCO Industries' primary competitive advantage is that it does not acquire existing coal mines or mining companies, as this would increase its leverage position. Instead, NACCO Industries focuses on reducing coal production costs and maximizing efficiency and operating capacity at the mine locations.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following third quarter results, NACCO Industries is expected to return 10.2% annually through 2029, up from our prior estimate of 2.9%. This projected return stems from a starting dividend yield of 2.9% and a high single-digit headwind from multiple expansion. We have raised our five-year price target $18 to $45 and now view shares of NACCO Industries as a buy due to projected returns. Investors should be aware that the company often has wild swings in its business projections from quarter to quarter. We note again that only investors with a high tolerance for risk should consider owning the name due to the stock's volatile performance.
